International Internship Program at Toyota Boshoku

Duration:
6 Jun to 26 Aug 2016 or Autumn 2016
(Maximum duration: 90 days. Minor adjustment is available)

Application Due Date:
21st of February 2016

Job Description:
Engineering assistant at Production Control Department

1. Internship theme:
   Practicing estimation of physical distribution cost.

2. Description:
   Estimation of overseas export logistic cost.
   - Understand about estimation of logistic cost with production operation plan.
   - Compare its estimation and actual cost to analyze differences and improve future estimation.
   - Understand Japanese distribution system through Genchi·Genbutsu.

3. Location:
   Toyota City, Aichi Prefecture, Japan

4. Approx. hours per week:
   40 hours a week (8 hours a day, 5 days a week)

5. Conditions:
   Housing, utilities, meals and living allowance will be provided by the company

6. Essential requirements:
   Studying production control, TPS
   Good communication skill in English
   Attention to detail
   Inquisitive mind
   Good personality and sense of humor
   Interest toward Japanese culture

Company profile:
Toyota Bosoku is a Japanese manufacturer, a member of Toyota Group of companies, manufacturing automotive interior components, filtration and powertrain components, and textiles and exterior components. We have Regional Management & Collaboration Hubs in 5 regions around the world, aiming to be a truly global company that promotes sustainable growth in harmony with society as a good corporate citizen while contributing to society through manufacturing. Looking into the future, we will create tomorrow’s automobile interior space that will inspire our customers the world over. Design your passion with TOYOTA BOSHOKU!

Contact information:
Megumi Kinoshita (Ms.)
Global HR Development Div.
Toyota Boshoku Corporation
megumi.kinoshita@toyota-boshoku.com